JCAM has been the publisher of many thoracic surgery articles until today. Having a special place in this field, JCAM published a number of articles from valuable scientists all over the world. Peter Goldstraw, for example, a distinguished scientist in thoracic surgery, has an article published at JCAM titled "TNM classification of lung and pleural tumors", which is frequently accessed by our readers [1]. "Management of Parapneumonic Effusions" submitted by Richard W. Light [2], and articles from Horacio Abramson [3] Hyung Joo Park [4] and Frank-Martin Haecker [5] and Hans K. Pilegaard [6] are also among the frequently accessed publications. The close interest of our readers in the articles published in our journal is giving us confidence and the power to go forward in our work. By the light of the supporting feedbacks we receive, active topics on thoracic surgery will keep to have a place in our journal.
